

THE MOSCOW PROVES HEADLESS PROPAGANDA

Third International Sits Safely Protected and Fitted by Soviet Union—Kremlin Explains.

By FRAZIER HUNT
Copyright, 1935, Edmonton Bulletin

MOSCOW, (by cable from London), Dec. 24.—The world might as well make up its mind that the Soviet Union has no intention of giving up the idea of a slow, steady and eventual world revolution.

Diplomats may storm and foreign offices and state departments may write sharp notes, but in actual world revolution, the Third International, or Comintern, is still safely in Moscow, protected and guarded by the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin blandly explains that the Soviet has nothing to do with Comintern. But before they would close down or seriously interfere with it, they would break off friendly relations with America or with any other country.

This has been a bone of international contention since the start of the revolution. Almost seven years ago in Moscow, Comintern, then foreign minister, presented me with almost a dozen reasons and reasons for Comintern's existence and for its independence of the Soviet Union.

CLING TO RED GROUPS ABROAD
Despite a sincere desire for peace for the next few years Russia feels the need to hold Comintern groups in each country in case of war and to prevent a breakdown which they are confident will follow the next world war.

It was the recent seventh congress of the Third International, that ordered all Cominterns abroad and in America to form an "united front" with all Socialistic and farmer-labor groups to oppose the threat of reaction and war. It is perfect foolishness to deny that the same line has been followed by the Kremlin to all world Communist groups, but in power and influence are tiny, particularly in America. There is no chance that all American groups will be able to do more than a penny to America, but they are doing so and are using it as a strategy to the Communist party. But one might ask: "What of the fact that the Soviet Union is a Communist state?"

Every year per cent of the world is a single race.

Everywhere in Europe you hear much talk of the growing nationalism of Soviet Russia and of the international revolution. It is unquestionably patriotism is advancing because of Germany's new war, but there is no growing of hope in the world with so Red due to internal breakdown of other forms of government. It is a fact that the Marxian philosophy.

first and foremost, the Marxian philosophy.

Building up FAIR
WITHIN RUSSIA
The same time internal Red propaganda is building up an immense desire in Soviet accomplishments. It constantly dramatizes the success in transforming a backward agricultural country into an industrialized state. Soviet Russia is also a conscious of her potential greatness and natural riches.

There is a determination to keep the Soviet Union as a refuge and example to world Communists. Neither red nor color enter into this new patriotism. It conceives the Soviet Union as a refuge and example to world Communists. Neither red nor color enter into this new patriotism. It conceives the Soviet Union as a refuge and example to world Communists.

Domination Control of Provincial Financing

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

There is a great temptation to consider the question of vesting in a Dominion Loan Board control over future Provincial borrowing on the balance sheets of today—without reference to the needs of tomorrow. Another great temptation is to assume, without reference to facts, that the Provincial balance sheets of today were created by the Provincial Governments by their own initiative and powers; although nothing could be farther from the truth.

The Dominion wrecked Provincial finances by invading the direct taxation field with the Dominion War Income Tax Act, and by passing high tariff law, thereby cutting down commerce by more than one-half, and causing a collapse of values and earning power. So complete was the wrecking of commerce that the Dominion was obliged to buy up the exportable wheat of 1934 to the extent of upwards of two hundred million dollars; in order that a Dominion general election could be carried on in such a manner as to prevent the electors learning the real effect of the commerce-destroying policies of the Government then in power.

The effects of these commerce-destroying policies were such that the president of one of the railway companies recently stated in public that more commerce must be obtained in order that Canada might survive.

The crash having been the direct result of Dominion policies, the responsibility for restoration is a Dominion responsibility. Giving to the Dominion control of Provincial financing as the price for performance by the Dominion of its own direct duty to bring about restoration would seem to be the only logical solution, because the Dominion has never made the slightest attempt to co-ordinate its policies with Provincial necessities—but has taken everything obtainable from the Provincial Governments, leaving the Province to eke out a precarious existence by sale of natural assets and by borrowing.

Basing future predictions upon past performance, the only time a Province would get consent from a Dominion Loan Board to borrow money, would be when this Provincial borrowing would leave the way open for the Dominion to lap up some more direct taxation.

There could, with great national benefit, be a National Loan Board, on which the Provinces could have adequate representation, and which would pass on, coordinate, and control all public borrowings—Dominion, Provincial and Municipal; with power to apportion sources of direct taxation, so that the Provinces would have some real share in direct taxation, instead of the illusory right to spoon out some skim milk after the Dominion has taken the cream.

Once the Dominion increases commerce to an extent sufficient to constitute a real restoration of values and earning power, thereby undoing the effects of Dominion mistakes, it will be time enough to offer some constructive criticism of Provincial balance sheets.

B.C. PLANNING TO ESTABLISH TRADE BRANCH

Will Co-Operate With Trade and Commerce Dept. at Ottawa

VICTORIA, Dec. 24.—The British Columbia government plans to establish a trade and commerce department which will co-operate with the trade and commerce department at Ottawa with a view to endeavoring to assist industry.

Mr. Pattullo announced Monday in a public address.

AVOID OVERLAP
Such co-operation would avoid overlapping, the premier said, and by working in conjunction with industry opportunity would be afforded to expand present trade as well as open to new avenues of endeavor.

The premier announced also it is the government's intention to reorganize and revitalize the provincial bureau of information to make it more effective in furthering trade.

Mr. Pattullo reviewed the deliberations of the recent Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa.

CONSIDER TERMS
With reference to the committee set up to consider procedure to be adopted in order to effectuate desired constitutional changes, the premier said terms under which British Columbia entered confederation, long regarded by this province as being correct, will be considered with a view to making possible the coming into effect of a minimum of delay.

Trouching on refunding, Premier Pattullo stated the conference reached no definite decision. British Columbia advocated refunding of debt charges, he said, but at no time suggested refunding of other obligations. Nor is his government prepared to accept any refunding scheme that would involve surrender of assets to provincial activities.

Saskatchewan To Pay Out More For Police Protection
REGINA, Dec. 24.—Hon. T. C. Davis, attorney-general, announced Monday a new contract for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for services in Saskatchewan will cost the province $275,000 an increase of $45,000 per year. The number of officers in Saskatchewan will be increased to 140. Mr. Davis believes that as this figure the province is paying $400,000 per year over one of the provinces with a separate provincial police force.

WORST FOG IN 10 YEARS IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Fog—the Automobile Association said it was the worst in 10 years—marked land, sea and air traffic over an area of 200 miles from London to Lancashire and Wales last night.

Frost and snow, too, helped paralyze last-minute Christmas shopping and caused many accidents. There was skiing and tobogganing in Derbyshire and skating in Lincolnshire. The whole country looked forward to a wintry holiday. London was completely backed up. Many bus services were abandoned and home-bound workers struggled in jammed underground and tube trains.

Thames, Mersey and Clyde shipping was at a standstill. River mouths were choked with vessels waiting to dock.

Many people suffered from "fuzzy tongue," the result of breathing not only fog but smoke and soot from 1,000,000 chimneys.

Joyful Christmas Greetings

As Christmas draws near, and as 1953 draws to a close, we pause for a moment to think personally of life, of what it means to us . . . of its joys and its sorrows.

One of the greatest joys of life, as we see it, is its friendships. A true friend is a valued possession.

What is true of our personal lives is also true of our business lives. We like to feel that there is a spirit of friendship underlying each business transaction.

We like to think of our customers as our friends. We like to value our business friendships as we value our personal friendships.

As an expression, therefore, of our genuine appreciation of your friendship and all that it has meant to us, we

Milk In Cooking Protects Diets

By MARY E. DAGUE
Even if we have attained full height and years of discretion we nevertheless need milk at least half a pint a day, the dietitians say.

The modern fashion of serving vegetables with butter instead of cream, the light breakfast menu cereal with milk or cream and the general south country to eat milk as a drink, all these factors make it necessary for the cook and householder to devise strategies for getting the beverage in daily menu.

Soups with milk, vegetable or fruit, creamed vegetables on toast and scalloped vegetables all find themselves in luncheon menus to add the milk idea.

If the adults of a family are not at home for luncheon, then the dinner must be liberally diluted with milk. The canned and powdered brands will help the work along.

Custards, jellies, cereals, rice and tapioca puddings will all do their share toward increasing the amount of milk in the diet.

Milk is such a cheap source of protein and calcium, as well as an economical provider of phosphorus, that we may almost consider the vitamins it also adds as thrown in for good measure. Not much more milk but what there is is potent and easily assimilated by the system.

Scalloped potatoes use a large amount of milk, much more than do mashed ones.

SCALLOPED POTATOES
Five medium sized potatoes, 1/2 cup butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 small onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk (about).
Dice potatoes and cut in thin slices crosswise. Peel onion and cut in half and put in the bottom of a well buttered casserole. Add a layer of potatoes (about one third) and dot with bits of butter.

Minute Make-Ups

If your chin is doubling itself, start right away to firm the sagging muscles. A compress saturated with asafetida held under the chin by the chin strap will do much to keep the chin contour youthful. Use the chin strap when you are working in your home, so that the travelling time is cut down by minutes and hours.

Scudge in the oil filter, if neglected, may fill the filter tank and cause loss of the lubricant by increasing the oil pump pressure. Be greatly as to burst a pump in the tank.

JUST 35 years ago, the scientific world first suspected the existence of the animal now known as the ooka. Sir Harry Johnston found natives of the Senzaki forest, in Africa, wearing curiously marked skins, and eventually he traced them to their source. The animal is a relative of the giraffe.

REVEAL STAR'S ROMANCE WITH BUSINESS MAN

Claim Thelma Todd Linked With Unnamed San Francisco Man

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—"marvelous romance" of Thelma Todd and an unnamed San Francisco business man was projected last night into the investigation of the comedy film actress' mysterious death.

District Attorney Byron Ritts announced he had been told of the romance by his lawyer and Margaret Lindsay, actresses who also related that Pauline De Goro, Miss Todd's divorced husband, had two engagements with her in the week before she died.

IDA TESTIFIES

Miss Lupton, host at a night club party attended by Miss Todd two days before her body was found in her automobile Dec. 16, testified today before the grand jury which opened an investigation into the death of the actress.

Miss Lupton also was a witness. Miss Lupton told of a conversation with Miss Todd at the party. Miss Lupton said she saw Miss Todd "How's your love life coming along?"

"What wonderful," she replied. "I'm having a marvelous romance with a San Francisco business man. He's just the greatest sort of a person. She didn't give his name," said Miss Lupton.

The prosecutor said the actress gave him the information while waiting to be called before the grand jury which began its investigation Monday.

CONFESSING ANGLES

Two more confining angles to the Thelma Todd death mystery were given a grand jury Monday as it opened an investigation.

1—That her automobile in which the body of the blonde film actress was found after a film party generated enough moonshine gas to cause death in two minutes.

2—That the movie fun-maker was then accompanied by a strange man, nervously telephoning at two three hours after the death of the actress.

More than 30 witnesses testified before the exact facts of only two were learned after the closed session.

These were:

ACTRESS ENTERED STORE

W. F. Peterson, store owner proprietor, who said he was positive the actress entered his store and asked him to dial a long distance phone for her at nine a. m. Sunday night, December 14, and that he and his wife were alone in the store.

Police Inspector Tom Cavett who said Miss Todd's automobile apparently was not moved from the garage after it was put away Saturday night, December 14, and that it would generate enough moonshine gas in the garage to cause quick death.

The grand jury inquiry began after Foreman George Rochford claimed he had evidence indicating the actress might have been a "murder" victim.

Peterson said his store is in downtown Los Angeles, 30 miles from the Castlemar district where Miss Todd's restaurant apartment and garage are located.

MAN JOINED THEATRE

"She gave me a nickel and asked me to call a number for her. I don't remember the prefix, but the number was 771. A minute or so later, a man came in and they left together," he said.

Another new witness, previously questioned, was Miss Lupton, piquant English movie actress, hostess at the cafe party Miss Todd attended the Saturday night before she died. Miss Lupton was expected to testify, as other guests, that Todd left for home, absolutely sober.

Dionnettes Are Happy As Dr. Dafoe Plays Santa Claus

Christmas time at the city hospital at Callander, Ontario, home of the five most famous children in the world—the Dionnette quintuplets—will be a more joyous one than last year. For this year the Dionnettes can today; they are beginning to appreciate Santa Claus and the holy he brings, and when Christmas comes it will find Yvonne, Emelie, Cecile, Annette and Marie excitedly aware, partly, just as other normal children—scrambling to the chimney to see what St. Nicholas has left. And old Nick will have left plenty from the looks of them.

Paula Long was the one who was most difficult to persuade that the young Stanleys were happy with out so many invitations. Paula said that Scott's life was even less than "to get ahead" Dana and Scott compromised by playing bridge once or twice a week. On rare occasions they accepted an invitation to a larger party because they were not sure that Paula was entirely wrong when she insisted it was important for Scott to be seen at such functions.

Berrett, who the thought brought a better thing—Paula believed that Dana was a little jealous of her. Paula came to the conclusion that Dana was a little jealous of her. Paula came to the conclusion that Dana was a little jealous of her.

Scott's expression, his to the attractions of other women—particularly herself, she assumed herself that her only motive was a desire to help Scott build himself up in the community and she refused to face the fact that she was being flattered by deplorable loneliness and the urge to find some means of seeing the man she loved.

Dana, on the other hand, was glad when, as the days passed, and Scott saw Paula less often. She didn't actively desire Paula, who always seemed friendly, yet she couldn't bring herself to really like her. There was something about her intangible feeling of distance of a person who Scott said had been open for one who is subtle and secretive. Paula seemed always to be building a protective screen behind which she hid her clearest work.

Scott was better than ever, remembering. "It being busy with the right people that counts," Dana decided sadly. She would never have dared to voice such a thought to Scott. She had had one lesson. It was after the first winter, when Paula had explained that he had deserted her, that he had attended a "conference."

"You left me just to go off and do a lot of things," she said. "Dana had asked in a slightly aggravated tone."

"It wasn't an ordinary conference," Scott explained. He had been called in by a group of physicians in a case of blood poisoning or "dysentery," which had been one to which he had devoted much study and in this particular case, had decided to try the Scott's treatment."

"I still can't see why you had to be called from the dance," Dana said.

"After a moment Bill answered, bringing, and when Christmas comes it will find Yvonne, Emelie, Cecile, Annette and Marie excitedly aware, partly, just as other normal children—scrambling to the chimney to see what St. Nicholas has left. And old Nick will have left plenty from the looks of them."

Dana had persisted. "Wouldn't the last day done as well?" "Who patient was Dr. O'Brien's?" Scott answered slowly. "Oh," Dana said, "that's different."

She had felt mean and small when Scott replied sternly, "If it had been his acquaintance, in our building, I'd have gone just the same. Dana."

Neither Scott nor Dana regretted this. Both realized the situation to a larger party because they were sure that social life could be picked up again when finances justified it.

COAST SQUAD EASILY LEADS PRO SCORERS

—BILL LEWIS—

ONCE again we reach the big holiday season of the winter and it is our pleasure to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. It is a very busy time for everyone and there's no other way of saying it. However, we take the opportunity thus afforded to assure you of its sincerity.

Second of the Pacific coast state to make a jump through the frozen Rockies—the Portland Buckaroos—will arrive in the city tonight to come to grips with the Eskimos on Christmas afternoon. . . . Bobby Rowe, who used to be a rough-and-ready sort of gent himself in his playing days, seems to have the knack of producing that type of hockey squad, and his team this year seems to be patterned on the customary line.

ESKIMOS, hopped up by their victory over Vancouver Lions here Saturday, figure on repeating at the expense of the Buckaroos. . . . Manager Ronnie Martin figures he has added enough to his staff by the acquisition of Art Gagne and feels that his club now has the necessary balance to really go places.

With the city and province celebrating Boxing day for the first time, Canadians and South Islanders will provide their holiday fare Thursday afternoon. . . . The Buckaroos have a chance to take sole possession of first place in the standing over Edmonton Athletic Club by winning, while the Canucks, trailing at present, will be battling to close the gap that separates them from the two place-sets.

EREOY Goldworthy continues to be the pace-maker of the Canadian scorers according to the latest National League averages published last week. . . . Another Edmontonian, Red Beattie, is second among the scorers of Boston. . . . Brandy of the Chicago Weiland by a single point.

Once again, we'll wish you a Merry Christmas.

Stettler Defeats Ponoka Pucksters

STETTLER, Dec. 24.—In a wide-open hockey encounter which featured 13 penalties, Stettler Imperial blazed their way to a 1-0 victory over the visiting Ponoka pucksters here Monday evening. . . . Imperials leave Wednesday on a trip through the north. They will play in Leducville on Thursday, Vegreville Friday and on Saturday with a league game in Camrose Saturday night. . . . Ponoka—Wallas, Alagar, D. Nelson, Dawson, Lou, Larson, Terry, Plant, Aukens, G. Nelson. . . . Stettler—Coulter, Duckworth, Norbell, Harrison, Wilson, S. Taylor, C. Carlson, T. Carlson, Sharpe, B. Carlson. Referee—McBee.

THE TWELFTH MAN

As Princeton called signals on third down, with scarcely a yard to go for a touchdown, a spectator stepped from the stands, raised the end zone and took a place in the Dartmouth line before officials could stop him on the play.

The Tiger, somewhat startled, executed a line smash, uncertainly, failed to score. The "Twelfth Man" was summarily removed and Princeton won scored. . . . Gold added a small, unexpected contribution to the 1935 season's game when "Double Buck" Craig in the Augusta invitation tournament.

Barzen, needing birds on two of the last four holes to tie Craig for the lead, was in a quandary.

Clint Smith Is Way Ahead Of Rest—Two Other Lions Place Next

CALGARY, Dec. 24.—Vancouver Lions took more than half the points in the first round of the Western Canadian Hockey League last week, scored six points in the four games and gave big boosts to their goal and assist totals.

Clint Smith, center of Lions' first string, added six points during the trip that shows his total up to 10 goals, 14 assists—24 points. He was far ahead of the second man, Brian Hestall, his left wing mate, whose total today was 14-2-16.

Charlie Hamilton, captain of Guy Patrick's squad, returned to action after a two-week layoff due to an injured leg and lost little time sending his total up to 7-14, a gain of six points in four games.

Camp Proudfoot, fiery wingman of Seattle Seawolves, slammed his way back to the top of the penalty servers. . . . He added six points in two minutes ahead of Gordon McFarlane of the Portland Rockies. . . . Ron Sutherland, a young defenseman who has been handed only one five-minute penalty.

"Twelfth Man" Queerest Of Happenings In Field of Sport

(This is the last of a series analyzing the results of the annual Associated Press Sports Poll.)

BY ALAN GOLD

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The oddest happening of the year on the field of sport in the United States was the volunteer appearance of a spectator as a "Twelfth Man" in Dartmouth's football line against Princeton.

This, at least, is the conclusion drawn from the fifth annual Associated Press poll of sports experts. . . . The incident had an appropriate setting. Playing in a raging snowstorm, Dartmouth was being pushed all over the icy gridiron by the ferocious attack of the Tigers. Backed up against their own goal line, late in the game, the Indians needed help.

The Tiger, somewhat startled, executed a line smash, uncertainly, failed to score. The "Twelfth Man" was summarily removed and Princeton won scored.

Gold added a small, unexpected contribution to the 1935 season's game when "Double Buck" Craig in the Augusta invitation tournament.

Barzen, needing birds on two of the last four holes to tie Craig for the lead, was in a quandary.

THOMPSON AND CONACHER Still Have Big Fight For Points Behind Them

MONTREAL, Dec. 24.—Toronto Maple Leafs, who have provided the main scoring punch in the National hockey league for many a season, are keeping their record clean again this year. One of their players, Buzz Boll, found a threat for scoring supremacy. Used in a utility role most of last season, he is now one of the main dynamites of the Leafs.

According to league scoring statistics released last night, Boll jumped his total to five goals and assists, 11 points, by tallying twice and gaining two assists during the week. He has only four points behind Paul Thompson, of Chicago, leader of the points league. The veteran Thompson scored once to gain a tie with Toronto's Boll. 200 BULLETIN BOYS GUESTS AT JAMBOREE

Young Salesmen Entertained at Banquet in Masonic Temple

Broadway, Hollywood, nights in gay parties, in many Spain and some abroad ship, a short party depicted at the fourth annual Bulletin boys' jumble sale and banquet at the Masonic Temple Monday night. More than 200 sat down to the banquet, while the auditorium was filled to capacity with the carrier boys and their parents for the entertainment.

The annual banquet and jumble sale held for the boys as part of the Bulletin's policy to reward work well done. These energetic boys who are first class salesmen today and who will be among the leading business men in a short time, are wide awake to the opportunities which their work presents. Increased circulation, efficient service and courtesy are the watchwords of these young men in the production and distribution of Alberta's oldest newspaper.

HIGH PRAISE FOR BOYS

R. J. Robb, business manager of The Bulletin, in a few short remarks, gave high praise to the boys for the splendid work they have done in the past year by rendering efficient service and increasing sales.

"Without the carrier salesmen this would not be the paper for it is the carrier boy who is the backbone between the paper and the delivered product. The boys this year have done a fine job. We are proud of you and we want you to know it," Mr. Robb declared.

Jack Grant, circulation executive, held words of high praise for the fine work the boys have done. "The carrier boys are doing a tremendous work that your fathers would not have attempted. Even in difficult times like these you are able to get results, and it is results that count."

PROUD OF WORK

"We are proud of your work. We feel that we have the finest group of salesmen that we depend on to make the contacts with our readers which result in increased circulation. The circulation department also appreciates the sympathy, co-operation, encouragement and help which the carrier boys and young salesmen are giving us in their work," Mr. Grant said.

HONOR ROLL MEMBERS

Howard Watson, circulation manager, spoke briefly and announced that 183 members of the Bulletin's carrier boys' organization are a most important work for you are helping make it possible to keep the paper when the world is in need of knowledge more than it has ever known. To have a part in this work is to have a great service to society."

BUSINESS OF QUAKES PAST THRILL STAGE

Harassed Northern Ontario Settlers Are Nervous and Plain Fed Up

NORTH BAY, Ont. Dec. 24.—This business of earthquake shocks up along the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway has gone far past the thrill and novelty stage. If they don't soon stop, say harassed settlers, the government will have to do something about it.

PLAIN FED UP

The folks up around Dufferin Station, 20 miles north of this city, are pestered, nervous and plain fed up with the complaint of the government from F. E. Saums, who may be regarded as official spokesman for settlers in the Dufferin area.

Settler Saums snowed out from his cabin to the nearest telephone line and let it be known the least the federal authorities can do is start an investigation. After all, there must be some cause for these rattlings and shakings.

TRAIL OF QUAKERS

Mr. Saums said tremors have been felt since 1910, but he said the big quake of Nov. 1 with its epicentre near Dufferin, left its trail of recurrent rattlings and quakes. "They last from a few seconds to more than a minute and have come at the rate of 15 or 20 in a single day," said Mr. Saums. "I think the ground on which my cabin is built must be hollow for the cabin seems to lift right up in the air when the quakes come. And from the sound of the rattling, the ground on each side is hollow, too."

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The Four Aces, holders of the Vanderbilt cup team-of-four championship, last night emerged victors by a 2,810-point margin in their Madison Square Garden 300-hand contract match against a French team.

Donald Jacobs' four had 97,200 points at the wind-up, their French opponents totalling 94,400.

The players, seated at another floor, invisible to the public and under the watchful eyes of censors, were and plain dressed persons in long evening gowns.

Medical Device Responsible For Trouble On Radio

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. Dec. 24.—A medical device for inducing artificial fevers last night was reported responsible for short-wave radio interference throughout North America and in some parts of Europe.

Scientists at the Craft Laboratory of Harvard University, under the direction of Professor H. R. Minnow, found that signals from the medical device were heard more than 1,000 miles away, and have recently conferred with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, federal government communication, foreign broadcasts and ship-to-shore transmission.

The fever machines emit a strong humming sound that prevents the hearing of messages going out on the same wave length. Power lines feeding the apparatus act as antennae in sending out the interference.

A minor change in the machines will prevent the interference.

FROM a commercial standpoint London and the south of England are generally regarded as the heart and soul of the British Empire. The West End shopping streets were presented more attractive and more crowded than any other in the world.

It is estimated that taking the country as a whole, 1,500,000,000 Christmas presents are given in the Christmas season, a sum greater than that of last year.

The Christmas season is a time of great excitement and joy. The streets are crowded with people, and the air is filled with the sound of bells and carols.
